Pediatric Critical Care Summit of the Americas 2019

15th Latin American Congress of Pediatric Critical Care (‘SLACIP’) & 26th Pediatric Critical Care Colloquium (PCCC) Annual Meeting

Pediatric Critical Care Summit of the Americas 2019 (PCCSA)

- Support, encourage and promote excellence in clinical care and research in the field of pediatric critical care across the Americas.
- Encourage collegial relationships between US, Central American and Latin American pediatric intensivists and the greater inter-professional team.
- Promote basic, translational, and clinical research related to critically ill children both while acutely ill and after discharge from the ICU.
- Promote and disseminate related quality improvement and patient safety materials through established and developing communication technologies.

The Pediatric Critical Care Summit of the Americas 2019 will be a unique event -- a joint meeting blending two pediatric critical care organizations -- the 26th Pediatric Critical Care Colloquium (PCCC) and the 15th Latin American Congress of Pediatric Intensive Care (SLACIP). The theme of the 26th Pediatric Critical Care Colloquium will be “PICU: from global care to global health” and the theme of the 15th Latin American Congress will be focused on “PICU liberation, integrated multidisciplinary care, survival and the technology dependent child.”

As this conference is a Pan-American conference, all conference sessions will be dually-translated in either Spanish or English respectively. The goal for this joint conference will be to create a forum for active discussions of the science and art of the care of critically ill children. The vision is for this conference is to be multi-disciplinary and welcoming of trainees. Attendees will acquire knowledge of the latest clinical and research advancements with the guidance of eminent leaders in the field of Pediatric Critical Care Medicine. Practical information will be a special emphasis via the pre-conference workshops. The conference is targeted to all allied health care professionals who care for critically ill children including pediatric critical care physicians, pediatric critical care nurses, advanced practice nurses, hospitalists and respiratory therapists.

Invitation to Support

The PCCSA is pleased to invite your organization to increase its visibility and to build and strengthen relationships with pediatric intensive care healthcare leaders across the Americas. Industry support is vital to the success of this conference and demonstrates your commitment to improving care for critically ill children.

With unopposed exhibit hours, you will have an opportunity to generate new leads with pediatric critical care decision makers.
Target Audience

The program curriculum and activities are designed to provide an interactive educational forum for physicians, nurses, therapists, and other healthcare professionals who care for critically ill pediatric patients.

- Physician specialties represented include pediatric critical care medicine, pediatric emergency medicine, pediatric surgery, pediatric nephrology and pediatric oncology
- Nursing representation includes pediatric critical care nurses and advance practice nurses

We anticipate 500 – 600 attendees at 2019 PCCSA with approximately 300-400 Latin American attendees and 100-200 US attendees.

Objectives

After attending this activity, the participant will demonstrate the ability to:

- Explore the evolving conception of Post-PICU care
- Articulate issues central to the care of technology-dependent children
- Discuss differences in PICU practice approaches among the Americas
- Perform applications of essential bedside skills in the care of critically ill children
